SPEEDING UP BIG NAVY BILL

RULES COMMITTEE ORDERS PROVISIONS ADDED TO APPROPRIATION BILL.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—To save the new three year naval building program from defeat through a parliamentary coup the house rules committee today ordered the report of a rule making legislation authorizing construction of ten battleships, and ten scout cruisers as part of the $720,000,000 appropriation bill. A vote on the rule was to be taken later in the day.

NEW BUILDING FOR NORMAL PROPOSED

Senator Luther Harrison has introduced a bill in the state senate appropriating $100,000 for a new building for the East Central normal. This school has increased so rapidly in numbers and efficiency that the present building is inadequate for the work and the friends of the normal hope to see more adequate quarters provided.

REV. DUNN FEELS IT HIS DUTY TO SPEAK

Wants Others to Benefit by His Experience—Gains Fifteen Pounds By Taking Tanlac.

Rev. J. H. Dunn, pastor of the Church of Christ at 2110 East Second Ave., Spokane, Wash., and residing at 724 West Sharp Street, is still another in this high calling whose deep sense of gratitude and desire to help others will not permit him to remain silent regarding the wonderful benefits he has derived from the use of Tanlac.

"Tanalac has not only relieved me of my ten years suffering," said Rev. Dunn, recently, but it has built me up wonderfully, as I have gained fifteen pounds in a month's time by taking it. My stomach was in such a disordered condition that I could not eat without suffering great pain. My food felt like lead in my stomach and I would expel sour gas with almost every breath. Those who diagnosed my case told me I had cancer of the stomach, and my worry and physical suffering combined were extreme. My head ached constantly, and I continually lost in weight, strength and energy. I spent around three hundred dollars for medicines of various kinds but got no benefit and my condition was indeed distressing.

"I finally bought Tanlac on the strength of high endorsements and my first bottle made a marked change in my feelings. So I bought another and then another, and now I am just like a new man. Before I took Tanlac I could not eat apples on account of the suffering the acid caused me, but now I can eat any number of them. In fact, I can eat just anything now without the least discomfort afterwards. A medicine that will help anyone out of such a long term of suffering and set them right is certainly well worth recommending to the public. It gives me pleasure to do what I can for my fellow man, and as Tanlac has been of such great benefit to me, and not only to me, but also a number of my friends, I can conscientiously recommend it to everybody."

Tanalac is sold in Ada by Gwin & Mays Drug Co.

JAPAN INSISTS ON CONQUESTS

MAKES PUBLIC INTENTION OF HOLDING ISLANDS TAKEN FROM GERMANS.

By the Associated Press

PARIS, Feb. 11.—Japan has reiterated her intention to hold the Marshall and Caroline islands in the Pacific which she took from Germany during the war, as well as to insist upon execution of her agreement with China regarding Shantung Province. A formal statement to this effect by the Japanese representatives has been made public here.

JAPAN IN AN UGLY MOOD

THREATENS WAR IF CHINA REFUSES TO ACCEDE TO HER DEMANDS.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Japan's attitude toward China in the peace conference is causing grave apprehension among representatives of the other associated powers. According to official diplomatic information reaching here Japan has virtually threatened war if China makes public the secret treaties between the two countries and fails to carry out the agreement to make Japan the successor of German rights, property and concessions held by Germany at the war's outbreak. Information now available discloses that when the Chinese delegates arrived at Paris they reported according to advices that the Japanese minister in Peking pointed out to China that Japan had an idle army of over a million armed and munitioned for a long war and referred pointedly to large Chinese debts in Japan.

KING URGES MEASURES OF RECONSTRUCTION

By the Associated Press

LONDON, Feb. 11.—King George in opening parliament today urged quick and decisive action on reconstruction measures and asked that Parliament "spare no effort in healing the causes to prevent unrest." The King stated that the government bill asking for better housing, formation of a department of health, fulfillment of pledges to labor that unfair competition be prevented and betterment of agricultural situation through improved transportation would be introduced.

WHEAT PRICE GUARANTY MUST BE CARRIED OUT

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Senator Gore in an address to the Senate today said the government should pay the difference between the guaranteed price of $2.26 per bushel for wheat, and the price in an unregulated market and assured the farmers they need have no doubt that the government would keep faith with them in carrying out the price guaranty. He characterized the guaranty as an obligation as sacred as a thrift stamp or government bond.

WILSON WILL RETURN TO PARIS

EXPECTS TO TAKE ACTIVE PART IN SHAPING DETAILS OF PEACE TREATY.

By the Associated Press

PARIS, Feb. 11.—Evidence of President Wilson's intention not to abandon the peace conference upon ratification of the society of nations plan is found in the disclosure that he plans to return from Washington to Paris by March 15. This involves so brief a stay in Washington as to permit only the signing of bills during the closing hours of congress. It is understood that Wilson intends giving personal attention in Paris to the work of the supreme executive council which promises to be the most important feature of the peace conference after the society of nations plan is disposed of. Unanimity prevails that the society of nations commission report will be adopted by the conference.

The best resolution the property owners of Ada could make for spring is a general cleanup of their premises. Rubbish accumulates rapidly unless frequently removed, and the appearance of the city will be greatly improved when the accumulation of several months is picked up and carted away. The cleaner the city the less sickness.

The News is far behind with the letters from soldiers, due mainly to the crippled condition of the business the past month when most of the force was down with the flu, but we now hope to publish a number of them, the first batch appearing in this issue. We have kept some so long that they may be out of date, but we will look them over and hunt out the most interesting items not already covered.

The threats by the German leaders about what Germany will do if the allies do not grant terms to their liking and their talk about what Germany will agree to and what sort of treaty she will not sign will not get very far. The allies do not care a rap about what Germany wants or does not want; they are going to cut the claws from the beast and end the menace once for all. The bluster of the Hun leaders indicates that the German spirit of arrogance and egotism is as great as ever and that force is still the only argument that appeals. The allies now have the force at hand to apply if the Huns are not satisfied.

Episcopal Church Notice.

Our opportunity! Usually a rare one for a church of our size. It is the occasion of the visit to our church of the Rev. A. W. Garden, secretary of the Province of the Southwest.

The church is undertaking big things these days, and we may expect him to come with a message of interest and enthusiasm.

He is the messenger between the Southwest and headquarters, and we shall never get abreast, even in our little way, unless we can catch some of the spirit of that part of the church where they can and do accomplish things worth while.

The services will be Wednesday even at 7:30 and will be of special interest to men.

There will be no offering. The public is cordially invited.—Franklin Davis, Rector.

the most extensive oil operators in the Oklahoma and Texas fields. He was for four years a member of the State Banking Board. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev.
R. E. L. Morgan of the Broadway Methodist church and the Rev. C. C.

church. Interment was in Rose Hill

IROGEN WORKS MIRACLES SAYS NOTED PROFESSOR

Irving R. Bacon Comes Out With Remarkable Statement About New Discovery.

By Prof. Irving R. Bacon.

NEW YORK.—Once every ten years or so the world is startled by some great medical discovery which is calculated to help humanity. And now comes Irogen, a blood and strength builder, which promises to prove the greatest of them all.

The discovery of Irogen is the sensation of the hour here. It was because of the amazing results said to have been secured through its use that I was led to make an exhaustive investigation, and I can now emphatically say that none of the amazing reports which I heard was exaggerated.

Already hospitals are making use of Irogen in the treatment of many diseases, and thousands of people are enthusiastic and thankful after taking it. The first thing I found out about Irogen is that it affects the blood and by making the blood rich, red and healthy, carries health and strength to every part of the human body, giving a youthful vigor everywhere.

For ages physicians and scientists have known that the blood is the life and they have tried to discover something which would make the weak and run-down strong and healthy and impart vigor and ambition to those whose interest in life is not what it should be.

Probably the most interesting evidence I secured regarding Irogen came from Assistant Superintendent Ralph Cravette, of the People's Hospital, one of the largest and best-known institutions of the kind in this city. This official unhesitatingly and voluntarily declared in writing that Irogen had been used in his great institution with splendid results. He explained that it had been given to patients who were convalescing, and to those in run-down, nervous conditions, in addition to those suffering from muscular exhaustion and thin blood. In all of these tests this well-known official declared that excellent results were obtained and that microscopic examination before and after taking Irogen showed a rich improvement of the blood.

Although dozens of people had declared to me that Irogen had accomplished wonderful results for them, the statement from Assistant Superintendent Cravette created a profound impression on me because it is seldom indeed that officials of great public institutions come forward with a public endorsement. They hesitate to go into the public prints and openly declare that a medicine is worthy of the people's confidence. For that

DRAMATIC STORY OF RUSSIAN EXILE

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—When Mme. Catherine Breshkovsky, affectionately known to millions of Russians as "Babushka," or the little grandmother of the Russian revolution, stopped in the midst of an impassioned address to 150 prominent Americans at the Henry street settlement here the other day to embrace and kiss George Kennan, the author and explorer, who came in unexpectedly upon the gathering, there remained to be told the story of a remarkable friendship that began 35 years ago in the wilds of Siberia.

Seated before a log fire in his home on Fifth Avenue overlooking the gaunt trees of Central Park, Mr. Kennan today related with great vividness and sympathy that phase of his expose of the Russian prison horrors and the exile which, in 1885 brought him in touch with "Babush-ka," then a political prisoner in a little burat or village called Selenginsk in the most desolate part of the Trans-Baikal.

"She was the only civilized, educated woman within a radius of 300 miles," said Mr. Kennan. "She made a very deep impression upon me as a

PEOPLE'S HOSPITAL

Gentlemen:—

We have used "IROGEN" in the convalescence of all acute medical and surgical cases, in debilitated nervous conditions, muscular exhaustion, and particularly in anaemias due to the stress and strain of industrial activities.

In all the above conditions
"IROGEN" has done splendid work in improving the general condition of patients. The microscopic tests, before and after taking "IROGEN," show a rich improvement in the number of cells and in the richness of the coloring matter of the blood.

There is no doubt that "IRO-GEN" will meet a needed want with hospitals, physicians and the general public.

RALPH CRAVETTE,
Assistant Superintendent.

reason this public indorsement is all the more remarkable.

The theory on which Irogen's phenomenal success is based is that the health of the stomach, heart, brain, lungs, nerves, muscles and tissues depends on the blood, and that without rich, red blood there cannot be perfect health. By making the blood what nature meant it to be, Irogen has produced the remarkable results I investigated.

From the great mass of testimony which I studied and thoroughly examined, I am convinced that Irogen should be classed as the medical miracle of modern times, and I confidently predict that the time is not far distant when many more thousands of thin, frail, weak and rundown people will be taking Irogen and singing its praise just as I have heard such praises enthusiastically sung.

NOTE.—Irogen, the product mentioned above in Prof. Bacon's interesting article, may be obtained in Ada at Gwin & Mays, in Allen by G. W.
Busby, in Francis by the Francis Drug Co., in Stonewall by L. P. Carpenter and in Vanoss by the Lyon town and village in the State.

woman of heroic character, great fortitude and indomitable cheerfulness.
I never expected to see her again when I left her that day in 1885 because it seemed probable that she would die in exile. Already she had spent four years of her life in the mines at Kara, Eastern Siberia, where political offenders were subjected to the most rigorous punishment, starved, and cruelly beaten by armed criminals of the "Black Hundred" engaged by czarism to destroy all those who opposed autocracy.

"It didn't seem possible that a woman could live under such horrors.
The severity of the treatment proved fatal to thousands of the most rugged men. And so, when I bade Mme. Breshkovsky good-bye it was with the saddest misgiving. Her last words to me were: 'Mr. Kennan, we may die in exile and our children may die in exile and our children's children may die in exile, but something will come of it at last.'

"So you will understand that when, after the lapse of so many years, I saw "Babushka" alive and well here—strong, courageous and determined as ever in spite of her 75 years—you will understand when I say that our meeting was one of the most dramatic experiences in my life.

"I had gone to Russia on a secret mission and while I was there Mme.
Breshkovsky made one of her attempts to escape from Siberia and, disguised as a man, did succeed in traveling 400 miles, also to Irkutsk, before she was recaptured.

"During my three years residence in Russia I met "Babushka" several times and always she was the same cheerful, unconquerable spirit. On my last visit to her, to which I already have referred, she was exiled in the most northerly part of Siberia within the Arctic Circle, and lived alone in a log hut destitute of the barest comforts. Day and night she was guarded by armed police and had food only sufficient to keep her alive.

"At this time I was on my way to another convict settlement where "Babushka" had friends, fellow revolutionaries. She wanted me to take a few gifts and from her scanty store of personal belongings pathetically gave me small articles to express her love for her companions in misery.
One of these tokens was a little red feather duster. I delivered all of these mementoes.

"At intervals, thereafter I corresponded with Mme. Breshkovsky and, together with other Americans, sent her books, magazines, clothing and food. Finally, after spending 26 years in prison and exile, "Babushka" was freed. This was after the attempted revolution 1905 when she was permitted to return to European Russia. Subsequently she came to America where she made the acquaintance of Miss Alice Stone Blackwell of Boston, and others who learned to love her and aid her work.

"Returning to Russia with Nicholas Tchaykovsky, another revolutionary socialist, both were thrown into cells in the Fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul where, for two years, she was immured as in a tomb. Then she was sent to Kirinsk, in Eastern Siberia. The charge against her was attempting to overthrow the existing government.

"She was never a terrorist, never sympathized with bomb-throwing Nihilists. She is an intellectual socialist, made so by her abhorrence of serfdom and her sympathy for the Russian moujiks or peasants. She desired to ameliorate their hard life.
That is why she is so uncompromisingly opposed to the Bolsheviks whom she has designated as 'murderers' of Russian freedom.

"The real revolutionary movement in Russia began in 1878 and 1879 when 2,000 or more persons like Mme. Breshkovsky, opposed to the autocracy of the czar, were thrown into prison. All of them were freed except 193 and the social upheaval started.

"The story of "Babushka's" repeated efforts to escape from captivity would make most interesting reading. The last dash she made for freedom was five years ago. Imagine a woman 70 years old, still unbroken in mind and heart after so much anguish and torture, still mentally energetic enough to devise a plan to obtain her liberty. 'I love my people,' she has said and this thought doubtless has helped to sustain her.

When Kerensky came into power and Mme. Breshkovsky and other exiles were freed in 1917 she came to Petrograd and was received as a great national figure. After the downfall of Kerensky, for whom "Babush-ka" had the highest regard being of the same political faith, she started a magazine called "The People's Will" and edited it until she was forced to go into hiding by the criminal elements of the Bolsheviks against whom she had been warning the people and for whom she held a feeling of detestation on account of their lawlessness and terrible crimes.

"Mme. Breshkovsky was hidden for months in Petrograd and Moscow her friends in daily fear for her safety, notwithstanding that her whole life had been devoted to the betterment of the oppressed and impoverished people of Russia. Now she is in the United States to raise funds to feed, clothe and educate 4,000,000 fatherless and motherless Russian children but first, she says, 'the Bolsheviki must be overthrown.'

"In Russia today there are 40,000 co-operative societies with a membership of 15,000,000 persons, mostly heads of families, and these are all opposed to the Bolsheviks. Mme.
Breshkovsky speaks for these people.

"Only a few human beings have influenced my character as has Catherine Breshkovsky. She never will be broken down until she is dead and put under the sod. I don't care how long she lives, she will always be the same unconquerable spirit, ever hopeful of the triumph of truth and justice at last."

FEARFUL HOURS OF
INFLUENZA IN MEXICO
By the Associated Press
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 11.—Four hundred thirty-six thousand, two hundred deaths were caused in Mexico during 1918 by the influenza, according to data published by El Universal. This figure is believed to be conservative, according to the paper, as several states were unable to furnish figures on the mortality. In others it is added, the epidemic still prevails. In Morelos, in particular, few families escaped illness. In fact, the influenza is credited with having destroyed the power of Emiliano Zapata, long the rebel ruler of that state.

LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

From. Lieut. M. M. Webster.
Nov. 11, 1918.

Dear Judson:
I have been in all the big shows that the Americans have pulled off since July and on the whole it has kept me pretty busy. As you know the Americans turned the tide at the battle of the Marne in July and we have had him on the go ever since. I was also in the St. Mihiel battle in September, also on the Verdun front during the last month. So we have just been holding our breath for the last few days until this morning the news came that hostilities had ceased. Some celebration—you never heard Yanks yell so in all your life.

I trust it won't be long until I can accept your invitation to dinner, but I warn you that it don't make so much difference to me what you have to eat so it isn't gold fish (salmon) or corned willie. I've caught up on that stuff for the remainder of my life. France is a very beautiful country, but for me personally its a good place to be from, so I'll hail the day when my ship of state turns her nose homeward. The problem of getting us home is going to be the next big one the government is going to tackle.

I had a letter from Elmer Forrest yesterday and he said that one of the boys was wounded in the St. Mihiel fight but not seriously. This war has cost us tremendously in human blood but we have shown the Boche that he could not rule the earth and I think he'll not try again.

With love to the entire family, I am as ever, MACK.

From Charles Bobbitt.
Mr. F. C. Sims, Sec'y. A. F. A. M., No. 119.

Dear Mr. Sims:
I suppose you will be a little bit surprised to hear from me, but I feel that it is my duty to write you a few lines and let you know that soldier life in France is not so bad as one might think. So far I have enjoyed my trip immensely and have seen many interesting things. I feel that I will return to the states a wiser boy than when I left a few months ago. Would like very much to hear from you, and how the lodge is getting along. Will certainly be glad when the Huns lay down their arms and I can be with you again. I have traveled over a large part of France and it is a very pretty country, but shows the effects of war throughout. I have been to the front one time with a train of ammunition and found things pretty lively up there. It was a spectacle that I will never forget. The big guns were roaring and shells were whistling over us and bursting in our rear with a loud crash. The flash of the guns reminds one of sheet lightning with here and there a signal rocket going far into the heavens, where it would linger for a few minutes and then die out. As far as I could see that night the guns were flashing and sending forth their messengers of death and destruction. I have seen villages without a single wall left standing and have had the

DAILY HEALTH TALKS

Good Health Is in Your Own Hands

BY SAMUEL HAMILTON, M. D.

The man who said "People dig their graves with their teeth" uttered a truth that goes clear to the bottom of the health question. Suppose you should take everything you eat and drink for breakfast, everything you eat and drink for dinner, and mix all together in one mass. It would surely be a dreadful mixture to look upon. And yet your stomach is obliged to dispose of that unsightly mass each day! Is it any wonder so many people have indigestion, dyspepsia, backache, headache, bad blood, liver complaint, skin diseases, nervousness, coughs, colds, catarrh, bronchitis and goodness knows what else? Yes, people dig their graves with their teeth, and before the end comes they pass through one sickness or trouble after another. You should be glad to know that Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, has placed in the drug stores a medicine called Golden Medical Discovery that can be depended upon to overcome many of the diseases named above. It may seem impossible for one medicine to do so much, but really the whole thing is as simple as the figure 1. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery corrects the disordered conditions in a sick stomach, aids digestion, acts as a tonic and purifies the blood. When this is done, away go the diseases that are caused by a sick stomach. If you are digging your grave with your teeth, stop today. Correct your stomach disorders right now with Golden Medical Discovery, and henceforth eat for your health's sake. If you don't know what foods are best for you, write Dr. Pierce, Pres. Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive confidential medical advice without charge.

Golden Medical Discovery is made without alcohol or opiates, so anybody and everybody can take it with safety. It is put up both in liquid and tablet form. Send Dr. Pierce 10c for a trial pkg., and see for yourself how good it is. Try it now.

opportunity to see the havoc wrought by shell fire and must say that to a person who never saw such a thing, it is almost unbelievable. I crossed a section of France that had been No Man's Land for four years and will truthfully say that there was not a spring of anything growing on it. It has been a source of great satisfaction to me to know that you people at home are behind us with all your power, and of course the other boys feel the same way.

A few weeks ago I found a large number of German dugouts that had been used by officers of a high rank. These dugouts were very deep and fixed up swell inside, in fact, you could find most anything in them that could have been found in a modern home, including, hot and cold water, upholstered furniture, etc. We also found a fine piano and we have been having plenty of music ever since. The French people are hard workers and never seem to get tired. They are a great deal slower than we Americans, but are fine fighters just the same and I admire them very much for their courage and tenacity. I haven't been able to learn very much of the French language so far. The people talk so fast that it is almost impossible for an American to catch any of it. The boys who have been over here ten or twelve months can speak it fairly well. The grape crop is the principal one here and there is always plenty of wine, but the Americans don't drink it much. I have seen very few cases of drunkenness since I came over and the boys don't seem to want to get drunk at all. Too much praise cannot be given the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. and similar organizations for their part in the great war. I suppose I have told about all the law allows, so will close for this time. Hoping to hear from you in the near future, I remain, Sincerely,
C. I. BOBBITT.

From Chas. A. Bowen.
(Written to his sister, Mrs. J. A. Mascho.)

Le Mont Dore, France, Oct. 27.

Dear Sister, Brother and Babies:

Am having the time of my life in this little city in the valley between the Auburn Mts. It is a beautiful place with pretty water falls, snow capped peaks and pretty lakes. I was one of my division to get a seven day leave of absence, so I took the first opportunity. Can you blame me?

Sister I have been to the front line five times and over the top four. I am sure it won't be long until we have to go over again. I have lost the best Pal I ever had in the world, Harold Hall—I am sure you have heard me speak of him—he was killed in our last drive as he was coming back to where I was on the front line. Was hit with a machine gun bullet, right through the head, nearly all the boys who were with me in the states are gone, three boys and myself are the only ones left in the company out of the old 4th infantry, who were transferred with me.

We have run the Huns so far we are tired following them up but we still continue to push on and chase them. Wish I could tell you all about the war, but I cannot so will change the subject.

How are all the folks at Ada and in the near by towns, hope all are well and enjoying life for I sure am, but only for a short time, then I go back to my little dug out or pup tent or what ever I may find best to sleep in. I have slept many a night in a little hole that I dug myself with a pick and shovel which we always carry with us, some time in the rain too, but we lay right down in it, sometimes go two or three days with our clothes wet. Perhaps you wonder what the hole is far? Well, the shells drop all around us and some of them have nearly got me, have had two or three of my pals killed not more than four feet from me. I have had my helmet ring like a bell, pull it off and find a big dent or a hole through the brim of it; have never had a scratch as yet, and here's hoping I never do. One can't imagine what war is like unless one has been through a few nights and days of it. Sister, our division has been cited for bravery and are to have the cord of merit or chord of honor, and we are all to wear the service bar or "chevron" which is worn on the left arm, the wound stripe is worn on our right arm. Your loving brother, BUGLER CHAS. A. BOWEN.

From Lieut. Oscar Hatcher.
Thursday, Oct. 17, 1918.

Dear Father:
As France is so old it seems that the land should all be in cultivation or utilized to the best advantage. Well this is not true. Most every foot of land is fertilized for cultivation purposes. These people never saw corn or cotton. Sweet Potatoes are not raised here. Much of the land is laying out. I do not know the nature of the land. Land is preserved by stone walls. Farms are all under 20 acres. A man of wealth here is nothing like the rich of our country. Labor is as nothing it is so plentiful. Machinery which saves labor is not needed. All of the economic conditions which you have read about are true.

It is needless for me to quote ancient history to you about the early French race during Caesar's time or later during English occupation. Everything here is very old and all the buildings and walls are of stone to last for centuries. They think that a house of lumber is not fit to live in. The people of France know now that the American nation is composed of sons and daughters who were all born in the U. S. and not of worthless immigrants. They treat us as though we were war lords and they already know that the war is won for the allies.

Here at Tours I have visited a wonderful art and sculpture studio. I have also visited the cathedral which is of immense size and it is the most famous of all France. It was built from 1224 to 1547. It has painted glass windows and the secret of this process of painting is lost to the world. This cathedral has two towers, which are probably 60 feet apart. Our aviators from the 2nd A. I. C. used to fly between them with our biggest ships. In this studio I saw relics of early kings and also saw the bed on which Napoleon Bonapart slept. History tells you of the fame of Tours.

The antiquity of France is to be seen up and down the Loire river. I am still on the Loire river here.

About two km. west of Saumur I visited Dolmen de Baigneux. It is composed of 21 stones and each stone is about 75 meters by 7 meters. How this building of large stone was erected during the old stone age is a mystery. These stones were supposed to have been meteors which fell out of the sky and they (the Druids) erected Dolmens out of them in which they worshipped.

Up Loire from Saumur 12 km. is Chateau de Montsoreau which is now in ruins. I went to top of it. It was the scene of Alexander Dumas' novels, and also scene of Huguerot's reformation and where many were slaughtered. It is of the 15th century. Scenes of Chas. VIII. and Louis XI.

Up Loire 18 km. at Candès I visited cathedral where St. Martin of Tours was buried in 394. The present church dates from the 12th century.

Down Loire 10 km. I visited Chenouette an old Gallic town which shows traces of an old Roman camp which dates from 50 to 60 B. C. I visited the very tower, circular stone edifice, where Caesar and his staff ate and slept. This position is very high and one gets a view of Loire and all country. From this high view a short way is a wonderful chateau in fine state of preservation and which exhibits renaissance antique. The present count is descended from one of Napoleon's marshals and his cousin married Anna Gould. The count was in Paris but his niece told us when to come back and pay him a visit. You see thy treat us American officers very good.

Down Loire 15 km. I visited Trèves named by Romans Clementinus. Tower built in 1425 and veritable fortress and figured in 100 yrs. war. Visited very old church but not in good state of preservation.

Down Loire 18 km. visited Cunaut; saw church of veritable basilique (columns which support). It is greatly restored. It is 73 meters long and 23 meters wide. Has fine paintings. The chateau I saw there was comparatively modern.

(Friday 18th.) I'll finish your letter. I was in the air this morning at 5:30 for 44 minutes.

Down Loire 21 km. at Gennes I saw Dolmen la Madeline. Composed of 18 stones. Also saw remains of Roman amphitheater and aqueduct and Saint Eusebe church which dates from time of Roman and Gauls and used now as a museum.

Crossed Loire to Kosiars and passed church of 13th century which was in splendid condition of preservation. 16 km. east was city of Lonneux in center of dairy region. Saw and visited a beautiful church in good condition and maintained by subscription of Legion of Honor. Lonneux is 16 km. north of Saumur. No we go from Loire west of Saumur.

West and south of Saumur is Chateau de Breze about 10 km. Was restored by Marquis de Breze and has wonderful moat surrounding it. The caves under the castle are 600 men capacity (30 m. by 35 m.) and is now used for Breze wine cellars. Dates from 16th century. Chas. IX. slept there.

About 20 km. west a most beautiful chateau, Montreuil Bellay. Dates from 1420. Much fighting in the vicinity during reformation. Chateau is attached to beautiful church. Returning to Saumur we were about 12 km. away when we were a little weary of peddling our bicycles and stopped at a good looking farm house to get water. To hold up the French custom we, being American officers, Bootay and myself, we were taken through the big stone home to the garden where we were seated to real wine and aniseed cake. We could not refuse because they may become angry. The home was an old chateau. The wife talked English well and had been to Canada. They wanted us to stay all night. Their barn had lions carved over the doors which were carved during renaissance, after all it was our curiosity that stopped us and not the fact that we wanted a drink.

The Chateau of Saumur was most powerful from military standpoint and has view from every direction. During 100 yrs. war Richard Coeur de Leon was besieged here. It has a well 70 meters deep and which by a tunnel affords an outlet to a church 12 km. up river at Fontevault. English kings operated from this chateau of Saumur. Have been to Fontevault many times. Richard Coeur de Leon, Henry I. and his wife and his son, Richard I. who is Richard Coeur de Leon are all buried there.

Chinon is a city of 6000 people 30 km. up Loire on Vienne river. I stayed all night there with Boots and we saw a camp which was first Gallic then Roman. Chateau was built in 10th century and it is 3 immense chateaus built together and they are separated by moats. Henry II. died there. Joan of Arc stayed there six weeks while beseeching Chas. VII. to raise army to drive English from France. Scene of 10 French and English kings. I was in these rooms where all this took place. The walls are about 15 or 16 feet thick, built out of solid stone. You are more than 200 feet above river when up in towers and its a very beautiful panorama. In all these moats you can still see the water line on the stone.

These are some of the things I have seen. It may not be very interesting to you. I have seen some coat of armor or coat of mail worn by those very ancient knights. Well flying is great and I like it better all the time. We get very good news from front. Lille and Ostend were evacuated yesterday. Write to me real soon.

From Roy Deaton.
American E. F. Dec. 3.

My dear Mother:
It is still raining over here and as wet as ever. We are now working hard so we can get back to the states. We are building roads and chopping wood. Mamma, I am at Marshhall. It is near Blois, about 45 miles from Paris.

I can tell you of our overseas trip. On the seventh day out we were attacked by a submarine and had quite a battle. All the guns were firing at it on two minutes notice. We had but one battle cruiser with us at the time. A few days later eight submarine chasers met us. It was published over here that the 48th regiment was sunk on the way. A transport that passed us the ninth day out was sunk next day. Every morning after we got into the war zone we were waked by the depth bombs the subchasers dropped at the submarines. They said we got four coming over; I know we got two. We were on the water fourteen days. We landed at Brest October 20, about 4 o'clock Sunday evening.

Well, mamma, this will be another Christmas we won't be together. I guess it will be awfully dull. Just wait, it won't be many more months until I will be home again. I think we will be in about six weeks more. Believe me I sure will be proud. All it can do over here is to rain, it is raining this evening. We have to wear our rubber boots all the time. You told me I would have to wear woolen socks. I wear two pair all the time. It won't be many more months until I want home to.

Your son,
ROY S. DEATON.

HOUSE COMMITTEE REPORTS ROAD BILL

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 11.—A Substitute bill by the House Committee on Roads and Highways was reported out this afternoon and an order immediately given for printing 100,000 copies. The bill is the result of the consideration of the committee on the proposed state system of roads. It provides for a $50,000,000 bond issue "for the purpose of providing means for the payment of the costs of construction and maintenance of statewide system of durable hard-surfaced roads as soon as practicable." A commission of five is provided for to handle the whole matter of road construction. The Governor is made one member and chairman, and he is to appoint the remaining four, two to be Democrats and two to be Republicans. Each of the four is to receive a salary of $5,000 a year. A person to be eligible to the commission must be "widely known as a successful business or professional man, of highest character and integrity."

The bonds shall bear interest at not to exceed 4 1-2 per cent and are to be retired in annual portions of one-twenty-fifth of the total issue, unless conditions permit retiring them at a more rapid rate. The bonds will be issued, $6,000,000 the first year, $8,000,000 the second, $10,000,000 the third, $12,000,000 the fourth and $14,000,000 the fifth. Gross production and automobile taxes are to be used in payment of interest and principal on the bonds, if it becomes necessary to use this money.

Maintenance fund for the roads will be made up from assessing adjacent property, the rate decreasing from 10c an acre for that abutting to 2c for that three miles back. Railroads, telegraph, telephone and pipe lines are also assessed in proportion for the maintenance fund. The Road Commission shall employ three reputable engineers, salaries for them to be fixed by the commission, except in the case of the State Engineer who shall by virtue of his office assist in the work.

Holly Used as Symbol.
It was usual at Roman weddings to present the bride with a wreath of holly, significant of the warmest congratulations. In India and Persia the followers of Zoroaster, the founder of fire worship, soak pieces of holly bark in water and throw the infusion in the faces of newly born babies, believing this will insure them prosperity and safety in this world.

Marriage Custom.
For women to take their husbands' names on the marriage day was a Roman custom. For example, we have Octavia of Cicero, meaning Octavia, wife of Cicero. Now we omit the "of."

WANT AMERICAN HUSBANDS.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—To get an American husband seems to be the ideal of more than 40 per cent of the Parisian young women. At all events, that is the result of an inquiry conducted by L'Ouvre, a Paris daily newspaper, which publishes a series of letters setting forth the reasons that have guided the writers to give preference to Americans.

Those who would rather marry Frenchmen base their predilections largely on patriotic grounds, but a large percentage of young French women confess to a whole hearted admiration of the average American's breezy good humor and courtly manner toward the other sex. Several French girls who have had an opportunity to observe American home life appreciate the easy camaraderie between the sexes.

Some writers say that French lovers talk overmuch and are too fussy about their appearance. Whether a man ought to shave seems to agitate the French feminine mind considerably, and the voting is about equal between the smooth-shaven American and the moustached Frenchman.

One girl raises the objection that "Americans eat too much."

YES, INFLUENZA CAN BE CURED AND PREVENTED.

It remained for an Oklahoma physician, Dr. Doan, to prepare a medicine which has been found to be a cure for influenza and all colds.

"In-Hale-It" is the name of this wonderful medicine, the odor or vapor of which is inhaled deep into the lungs. Of the hundreds of severe cases treated in Northeastern Oklahoma, with "In-Hale-It" not a case was lost. Many of these cases had reached a stage where blood was being coughed from the lungs.

"In-Hale-It" has been in use for thirty years and has been a wonderful remedy for pneumonia and severe colds. With the coming of the first epidemic of influenza Dr. Doan immediately prescribed "In-Hale-It" with wonderful results. "In-Hale-It" is absolutely guaranteed or money refunded. Does not interfere with physicians' prescriptions. Is harmless if spilled in mouth. Get a bottle and ward off influenza. Treat bad colds with it. "In-Hale-It" has saved many lives. Costs 50c the bottle at all drug stores. By mail 60c. Prepared by Doan's Pharmacy, Miami Oklahoma. —Sold in Ada by Gwin & Mays Drug Co., and M. A. Waits.

Goodness
I think that most of my readers will agree with me that, notwithstanding the all-pervasive evil which in a thousand shapes haunts the footsteps of our race, good is still the mightiest power in the world, and, if its aimless strength could be concentrated and directed, would go far towards effecting a reformation of the world.—Sir H. Rider Haggard.

Good in Strawberry Wine.

Regarded medicinally, strawberry wine is held to be superior to grape wine. Spanish doctors who have investigated the matter report that strawberry wine gives the greater strength to a weakened constitution. The strawberry wine industry is said to be assuming some importance in Spain.

Good Explanation.

After looking over a vacant house with his parents, Willie, aged six, heard them discussing the rooms. All the rooms were immense and rather dark, with the exception of the dining room, which was very small and naturally lighter than the others. Willie said: "Yes, I guess the dining room was the lightest because it was closest to the windows."

HOW IT HAPPENED

By RUBY H. MARTYN.

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

A cloud had hung over Lloyd Kenyon's going. The kind shut their lips when his drafting and futile claims to exemption were mentioned; the unkind Danburyites whispered "slacker" when the fearful neighbor went his way to the training camp. Janie Cushman, being of the kind in a company of the unkindly, denounced the group hotly for their attitude for no reason but her own sense of justice. And it was quite by the accidental irony of fate that stockings bearing her card were sent to him.

Janie would never have known about the stockings but for the letter from Lloyd which thanked her for them. A letter with longing for Danbury news glared between the lines of gratitude. "That ends right here," said Janie to the letter sheet burning on the embers of her open fire. "If that stoop-shouldered, blue-handed clerk thinks I'm going to write back he's got another guess coming."

But the longing between the lines did haunt her. Janie too was lonely, for she seemed to herself the only person in all Danbury without kin of blood or love away at the fight. In the big white homestead she knitted and knitted, but all the socks and sweaters were for no one in particular.

And so Janie Cushman compromised with her determination by sending Lloyd a store-prepared box of food, and answered his thanks with a stiff, prim note and a box of home-made cookies. From that was born a more kindly letter and a parcel of local papers. And by that time she was launched on the sea of kindness with her hands clasped over the personal possession of a friend in active service.

When letters from the camps were talked of Janie held her peace about Lloyd; when picture post cards from the boys were passed in company she had a happy thought remembering those in her desk at home; when knitting was talked of she bent lower over the khaki sweater she was fashioning.

The sweater was nearly done when word came that no more mail was to be sent to Lloyd at the camp where he had been training. His regiment was to move very soon. It was easy enough to guess that move was the first step toward the front.

"And the sweater was going to be ready to go in this night's mail," thought Janie, wistfully.

At first she thought to put the sweater by for later finishing. But in Janie there was the spirit of fighting in the last ditch. The stuff that heroes are made of was in her heart, and she determined the sweater should be ready if a chance should happen for Lloyd to get it. But a tear did fall on the khaki yarn that Janie did not understand.

The night was warm for spring. Across the field back of the big Cushman house was a railroad embankment. A freight train rumbled slowly north. A train going south stopped with its dark outline silhouetted against the blur of lightness from a distant city. Janie, watching idly from her dark window, saw the flagman's red lantern bobbing back along the track and a little group with flashlights hovered by the steaming engine. A song from the men's throats floated across the field:

"Where do we go from here, boys?"

Then she saw a tall shadow loom on the grass plot below her open window. "Hello!" she hailed, boldly.

"Jan!"

"Lloyd! I'll come down."

"How'd I get here? That's my train. The engine has a hot box and I can get back as soon as the flagman when he's called in. I knew where we were. I—I guess that hot box is a sort of answer to my prayer because I wanted to thank you by word of mouth for all the things. The kindness they stand for has helped me to get hold of my courage."

Janie had brought out the sweater and she thrust it into his hands. "It must be an answer to my prayer, too, Lloyd. And your letting me do the things has been a kindness, too!"

The moonlight was full on his face. Janie could see his brown eyes were clear and his skin bronzed; he looked inches taller and the clerkly fear-stoop was gone from his shoulders. The hand that grasped the sweater had iron sinews and on his khaki sleeve was a corporal's chevron. It was as if he had been transformed.

"You mean that?" he cried. "Oh, Jan, haven't I got to make good some more and wait to know you love me?" "Wait? I don't think there is need of waiting for me to tell you that!" she whispered.

Twice the engine whistle cut shrilly through the night. Lloyd held Janie close before he turned and hastened back across the field. The red light of the flagman signaled from the rear and the train pulled slowly away. And for a long while Janie stood as he had left her, sad enough for the parting, but glad, too, that she had helped make manly the man she had learned to love.

GOOD ROADS MEETING FRIDAY AFTERNOON

The next meeting of the Pontotoc County Good Roads Association will be held Friday afternoon, February 14, at the court house. It is important that all advocates of good roads be present as several matters demanding attention will come up at that time.

This organization is designed to work for good roads in any way possible, regardless to any bond issue.

Among those who will be present on this occasion is Col. Sidney Suggs of Ardmore, one of the original good roads boosters of Oklahoma. He has made a thorough study of the matter from every angle and no man in Oklahoma has a better knowledge of the road problem than he.

BAVARIA PREPARING FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS

By the Associated Press

MUNICH, Feb. 11.—To give employment to returning soldiers the Ministry for Social Affairs and the Ministry of Finance have decided to build cottages in districts where there is, or may be with the resumption of industry a need.

The Ministries have announced that building bonuses will be allowed by the state, the state itself bearing two-sixths of the costs, the empire three-sixths, and the towns or communities one-sixth. The houses to be constructed will be workmen's cottages, and the rent for them will be settled by the State.

If the cottages specially benefit individual employers, the latter will pay part of the town's one-sixth, and will collect the rents as security for their investments. They may not however, advance or change the rent without permission from the state or the community, nor may they alter the construction nor mortgage the property.

When the Thief Crop Was Good.

The city of Washington used to have a chief of police, since gone to unknown parts, who was known as a great thief catcher. Far and wide he was accredited with being "death on pickpockets." He had developed a staff of plain clothes men who, it was popularly reported could discern a "dip" or a "moll-buzzer" through a stone wall.

Yet the light-fingered ones flocked to the capital whenever a big crowd congregated there, and took a chance.

March of a certain year came along and a well-known citizen was to be inaugurated president of the nation. A notorious pickpocket had been sought vainly by the Chicago police for weeks when word came on March 1st that he was en route to Washington.

Two photographs, showing him in profile and front view, were in the Chicago rogue's gallery. Immediately the authorities had three copies of each view made and sent the six pictures by special delivery to Washington, requesting the capital police to watch for the fugitive.

Three hours after the Washington police received the pictures, the chief wired to Chicago:
